Pr. Talmage's Exhortation to Sinners Brings Many to Profess Repentance.

The vast crowd that filled the Academy of Music last evening, from the front seats in the orchestra away up to the back rows of the highest gallery, heard the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage preach.

It was not a doctrinal discourse nor a narrative of Biblical events, with running comments, like some of Dr. Talmage's sermons. It was a forcible and vigorous pleading to sinners to come to repentance, and it was effective, apparently, for at its conclusion many persons in the assemblage rose to ask the prayers of the congregation and remained behind after the services to speak with Dr. Talmage on religious matters.

THE ONE THING. "One thing thou lackest," was the text, and the idea which the preacher sought to enforce was that no matter how great one's worldly means may be, no matter what wealth or rewards may follow one's efforts in material things, all is of no avail without

"The young man of the text," said Dr. Talmage, "was amisble, and frank, and earnest, and educated, and refined, and respectable, and moral, and yet he was not a Christian. And so Christ addresses him in the words that I have read to you, One thing thou lackest." "I suppose that that text was no more appropriate to the young man of whom I have spoken than it is to a great multitude of people in this audience. There are many things in which you are not lacking. AN EMBROIDERED PILLOW.

"But have you, my friends, found that dollars and cents are no permanent consolation to the soul? You have large worldly resources, but have you no treasures in Heaven? "There are people here of high social position, and large means, and cultured minds, who, if they would come into the kingdom of God, would set the city on fire with religious awakening.

"Oh, hear you not the more than million voices of those in these two cities who are unconverted? Voices of those who in these two cities are dying in their sins? They want light. They want bread. They want Christ. They want heaven, Oh, that the Lord would make you a faming evangel.

"As for myself, I have sworn before high heaven that I will preach this Gospel as well as I can, in all its fulness, until every fibre of my body and every faculty of my mind and every passion of my soul is exhausted.

"People do not live to get old. That is the general rule. Here and there an aged man in the house. I tell you the truth. You have lived long enough in this world to know that it cannot satisfy an immortal nature. I must talk to you more reverentially than I do to these other people, while at the same time I speak with great plainness.

"Oh, father of the weary stop—oh, mother, bent down under the aliments of life, has thy God ever forsaken thee? Has all the goodness that God has been making pass before you produced no change in your feelings, and must it be said of you, not withstanding all this. One thing thou lackest?

SENATOR BROWN'S DINNER.

GOVERNOR HILL DID NOT INDORSE MR. CLEVE-LAND FOR ANYTHING.

The dinner given on Saturday evening at the Manhattan Club by State Senator W. L. Brown, at which Governor Hill and ex-President Cleveland were guests, was talked of yesterday as a political I mentioned this to a gentleman who was pres ent and he simply laughed at the idea. So he did at the mention of the rumor that Governor Hill had incidentally accepted the candidacy of Mr. Cleveland for President in 1892. "I can assure you," said the courteous gentleman, "that there is not the slightest foundation in fact for these rumors. This is all there is to it. Somebody suggested that a dinner be given to the governors of the club. Colonel Brown approved of it and said that if it were gotten up he would construed into a political utterance. Mr. Cleveland compliment.

"Of course it was a great thing to bring two such prominent men together, and naturally there will be some talk about it. The Henauth had this morning everything that occurred at the dinner, and there is nothing more to add to it."

Another of the company remarked to me that he attended the dinner without the alightest anticipation of anything happening. He knew Governor Hill to be too cautious a man to give any supposed adversary the chance to take advantage of him.

"The Governor," he said, "always speaks up to date and never talks of to-morrow. As a politician he well knows that any situation may be changed within a few hours. As for Mr. Cleveland, experience has taught him never to say too much. What passed in the oratorical line was of the most commoniplace character."

I called on State Senator Brown, the giver of the dinner, and he was very frank in his answers.

"The dinner had no political significance whatever," said the courteous Senator, "and it was proposed the suggestion was made that we should have the most prominent democrats in the State present. I always folt that there should be no differences between two such men, and as a matter of fact there are none."

"You saw the Governor and Mr. Cleveland before the dinner, I suppose, Colonel?"

"No, I did not," replied Colonel Brown. "The invitations were sent out from this cinb, and next day they were promptly accepted. As a member of the Senate I saw Governor Hill almost every day, and the only thing he said to me about it was that he had an engagement at the Twenty-second Regiment Armory and hoped that his seat with us would be kept, as he would surely be present, though perhaps a little late.

"Both gentlemen greeted each other with the utmost cordiality. When the speechmaking came they exchanged compliments, but all the speeches were directed at me and they had no tinge of politics. The speeches were such as gentlemen would make after a good dinner. The story you speak of is all wro

FINKLESTEIN WAS CLUBBED.

PATROLMAN FITZPATRICK USES HIS STICK AND

IS NEARLY MOBBED IN ELDRIDGE STREET. Many residents of Eldridge and Hester streets were aroused against the police of the Eldridge street station last night, and for a time it took nearly all the reserves to keep the Russians and Poles out of the house. The people were incensed -lubbing of Joseph ford avenue, Finklestein a savage blow across the head, knocking him senseless.

The report was circulated that a man had been clubbed to death and Fitzpatrick came near being mobbed. Alawyer present took the names of all the witnesses present, and the wounded man was taken to the station, where an ambulance surgeon dressed bis slight scalp wound. Finklestein was locked up and will be arraigned in the Essex Market Police Court this morning.

Finklestein, who is well to do, has a number of friends about the Russian quarter, and last night they declared they would complain of Fitzpatrick to the Commissioners. The policeman has been on the force for two years and at his station is given a good record.

THE DEAD SECRETARY.

ARBANGEMENTS FOR THE FUNERAL OF MR.

WINDOM AT WASHINGTON. Washington, Feb. 1, 1891 .- All the arrangements for the funeral of the late Secretary Windom have now been completed. The private service will take place at the house at eleven o'clock. The members of the family, the relatives, the President and his Cabinet and the servants of the family will attend the services. They will be brief, and at their conclusion the entire party will proceed to the Church of the Covenant. The members of the Cabinet will be the honorary pall bearers, and a number of Treasury Department employes, composing a detachment of the Sixth battalion of the District of Columbia National Guard will act as the body bearers.

There were a large number of callers at the family residence to-day, and all who desired to do so were permitted to view the body of the dead Sec retary. Among these callers were the President and Mrs. Harrison, Secretary Tracy and Postmaster and Mrs. Harrison, Secretary Tracy and Postmaster nescal Wanamaker. Mr. John Douglass, of Minnesota, the brother-in-law of Mrs. Windom, arrived here this afternoon to attend the funeral. Mr. William D. Windom, the dead Secretary's son, who was in Baton Rouge, La., at the time of his father's death, also arrived here to-day. Mrs. Garfield and her son have also arrived in Washington and will attend the funeral to-morrow.

The casket containing the body reposes in the front parlor of the house. It is of sombre black. On the top has been placed a silver plate with the following inscription:—

WILLIAM WINDOM, May 10, 1827, January 27, 1891.

Around the edge of the upper half of the casket is a string of violets, and over the lower half three sprays of paim tied with a piece of purple ribbon. A large bouquet of violets rests over the palms. Many floral pieces were received to-day.

Sculptor Dunbar, of this city, to-night took a death mask of the face of the dead Secretary. The sudden death of Secretary Windom was incidentally referred to to-day by the pastors of many of the churches of this city, where he was so well and favorably known.

The following delegation from the Union League Club of New York arrived in Washington to-night to attend the funcral:—James B, Colgrate, Cornelius N, Bliss, Seth M, Milliken, Jesse Seligman, Joel B, Erhardt, W, C. McBurney, H. O. Armour, Dorman B, Eaton, M. W. Cooper, William Dowd, Benjamin Brewster, Charles Watrous, Logan C, Murray, Horace Porter and H. L. Horton.

WINDOM'S VACANT PORTFOLIO.

INDICATIONS THAT JOHN C. NEW MAY BE SIC-BETARY OF THE TREASURY.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HEBALD.] CORNER FIFTHENTH AND G STREETS, N. W., Washington, Feb. 1, 1891.

The name of Consul General John C. New has been suggested to-day as a suitable successor to Secretary Windom. In his letter to Congress yesterday the President points out the impossibility of securing an appointee from any considerable distance within the legal limit of ten days. The political prophets who read between the lines regard this as indicating a purpose to place Mr. New at the head of the Treasury Department. It will be remembered that Mr. New was very desirous of en-remembered that Mr. New was very desirous of entering the Cabinet, and it was thought at one time that he had the Treasury portfolio in his grasp. Since he has been in London he has been in London he has been in correspondence with Secretary. Windom and the President on financial matters, and his qualifications are such as to admit of no doubt regarding his ability to fill the position. That indians has aiready one Cabinet officer would not, in all probability, deter the President from appointing his friend to the vacant Secretaryship, since a precedent has already been established in the case of New York.

But who else do you think is talked of? Why Steve Elkims of gracious memory. Certain New York influences are at work for him, that is certain, but whether he stands a ghost of a show only the chilly man at the White House can tell. Very probably Mr. Harrison would not object to Mr. Elkins on his own account; in fact he has reasons to feel very kindly toward him, but the certainty that there would be a kick from a large part of the public will probably exercise a restraining influence. On the other land, though, there is Mr. Blaine, who is represented as straining every nerve to get Elkins in for the sake of old friendship and certain well known services.

SENATOR MOODY'S CHANCES.

FATHER YODYZSUS APPEARS IN CHURCH.

The Polish Priest Who Was Thrashed Presided at the Regular Services Yesterday.

WILL BE CALLED TO ACCOUNT.

Bishep Loughlin's Legal Advisers Instructed to Institute Proceedings to Get Control of the Church Property.

Father Matthias Yodyzsus, the Polish priest, was able to celebrate mass in the Lithuanian Catholic Church on North Tenth street, near Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday morning, but it was a difficult matter for him to officiate. His eyes were very much swotlen and there was plaster over a wound on the right side of his face and another on his forehead, and he was very pale.

About two hundred men and women attended the services, and before the priest began he heard confessions in an antercom of the church. This is usually done on Saturdays, but Father Yodyzsus was not visible to any of his parishioners on Saturday, and those who went to the church found the doors locked.

Father Yodyzsus, in his sermon on the Gospel of the day, made no reference to the assault upon him last Tuesday morning. That he was still suffering from the effects of the beating was evident from the manner in which he delivered the sermon. He spoke very slowly and at times waited to gain his breath.

HE IS IN RETIREMENT. When the services were over he left the church in the company of friends. He went to his residence, opposite the church, but came out a few minutes later and walked toward Berry street.

I called at the priest's house yesterday afternoon, but he was not at home. Tenants in the house said he was staying with friends in North Eighth street, where a doctor was in attendance on him. A former trustee of the church told me that the priest's injuries were far more serious than his friends thought. His assailants clubbed him almost into insensibility and then left him lying as dead on the floor.

Some of the priest's friends received information yesterday that the clubbing took place in North Seventh street between Kent and Wythe avenues. Father Yodyzaus, it is said, wanted to introduce his priestly friend to a countryman and got into the wrong house.

Bishop Loughlin, it is said, has been in consultation with his council of priests touching the best way to get possession of Father Yodyzaus' church.

AN ACCOUNTING WANIED.

Ilearned yesterday that the Bishop's legal advisers had been instructed to begin proceedings against Pather Yodyzaus with the view of not alone getting the church and the church property under the control of the Bishop, but to force the priest to make an accounting. It is known that he has collected thousands of dollars, and not long ago, when the church property was sold under foreclosure, Father Yodyzsus' predecessor also came from Pennsylvania, and he had not long been in charge of the church when he left Brooklyn with $500 belonging to the building fund. Only the basement of the church has been completed, and it is there where mass is said. but he was not at home. Tenants in the house

PALMER IS PROBABLY INSANE. Charles Palmer, a salesman, living with his wife and three children at No. 90 Grand street, Brooklyn, was found in the cellar of his residence early esterday morning acting in a demented manner. Richard Long, who employed Palmer in his shoe store on Grand atrest, also received a farswell note and reported Palmer's disappearance to the police.

Long heard a peculiar noise in the cellar under his shoe store at two o'clock yesterday morning. He thought burglars were at work and notified the police. A policeman found it was Palmer, who had gained an entrance into the house and made his way to the cellar. His mind seemed to be unbalanced, but he cluded his watchers at daylight and left the house. He has not since been seen.

MILITIAMEN RECEIVE PRIZES. The Clermont avenue armory, Brooklyn, was crowded on Saturday evening by friends of the Twenty-third regiment when there was a review by Brigadier General McLeer and the presentation of marksmen's badges.

The regiment formed for review in ten companies of sixteen files. After the review and dress parade the sharpshooters and marksmen marched parade the sharpshooters and marksmen marched to the front, and General McLeer warmly congratulated the regiment or the splendid showing made. The Oliver aggregate medal was presented to Captain John S. Shepherd, of Company D. for making the highest aggregate score in team matches at Creedmoor last year. Frivate Charles W. Simmons was awarded the gold medal for the highest regimental score at 500 and 600 yards. The brigade prize was presented to Company F.

The medals won in the interstate team match in 1800 were handed to eight members of the interstate team who are members of the Twenty-third regiment. They are Captain Ezra De Forest, Captain W. A. Stokes, Lieutenant P. Bickett, Lieutenant F. A. Wells and Frivates Charles W. Simmons, G. A. Scott, W. J. Elliott and H. M. Field. The State prize and the brigade prize, two bronze trophies, were also won by the regiment.

NO LONGER A MINTER.

Rev. James Buchanan Drysdale Parker, ly the assistant to Rev. Lindsay Parker, rector of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church on State street, near Bond street, Brooklyn, has been deposed from the ministry by Bishop Littlejohn.

Drysdale was arrested some months ago on a charge of disorderly conduct, the complainant being Frank Driscoll, of No. 222 Twenty-second street. He was tried in the Adams Street Police street. He was tried in the Adams Street Police Court and acquitted, although the officers of the church believed him guilty and forced him to resign his position in the church.

He would probably not have been deposed so soon had not information reached the bishop that he was frequently seen at the race tracks. An inquiry was made into his private character, and he was given the alternative of voluntarily renouncing the ministry or of being expelled. He chose the former, and signed a paper formally renouncing the ministry and consenting to a deposition by the Bishop of Long Island. In the presence of two clergymen he was deposed in the Garden City Cathedral.

Starr was thirty-two years old and lived with his parents. He worked for his father, and was widely known and popular. He had an uncontrollable appetite for liquor, and this led to his suicide. He declared a week ago that he had given up drinking. In a day or two, however, the appetite came upon him and he started on one of his periodical spress. He was kept in his room under the care of a trained nurse, but while the nurse was temporarily absent from the room on Saturday afternoon, Starr, who was almost naked, climbed out of a second story window and made his way to his father's factory, which is but a short distance in the rear of the house. There he procured a quantity of cylande of potassium, which is used in the plating department. He returned home and swallowed the poison, and then told his mother what he had done.

The Free Public Library in Jersey City will be onened in about two months. The trustees have ented rooms in the basement of the new building rented rooms in the basement of the new building of the Provident Savings Institution.

Mr. George Watson Cole has been selected as librarian. He was librarian of the Fitchburg (Mass.) Public Library, and later was connected with the Newberry Library at Chicago.

The trustees have secured 4.000 volumes and 1,000 public documents from the high school collection of works, and have added 4,200 volumes and intend purchasing about 8,000 desirable works. They contemplate expending about $5,000 annually for books.

The delay in catabilishing the library was caused by the dispute between the trustees and the Board of Finance. Under the law the Jersey City Library trustees are entitled to about $25,000 per annum. The Board of Finance refused to allow more than $10,000, and the trustees entered suit to compet the city's financiers to obey the law. The court decided in their favor.

DIED AFTER A FRIGHT.

MISS DALTON WAS SCARED BY THE SCORM AND DID NOT RECOVER. Miss Annie Dalton, a young woman, the daughter

During the severe storm a week ago she was ble. During the severe storm a week ago she was awakened by the snapping and breaking of wires and poles in the vicinity of the house.

A giant pole, standing in front of the house, fell against it with a tremendous crash, and the old structure quivered from top to bettom. Miss Daiton was terrified and thought the building was about to collapse, and her screams aroused the family. A physician was summoned, but she could not be made to believe the building was safe. Her nerves were terribly unstrung, although she had been a strong, healthy girl.

She grew worse steadily, and on Wednesday became unconscious and remained so until her death.
